For Immediate Release

Competition Commission launches debut Roving Exhibition

The first Roving Exhibition of the Competition Commission (Commission) will be held between 18 September and 9 November 2015 across Hong Kong Island, Kowloon and the New Territories as one of the key components of the Commission's advocacy programme to reach out to the public before the full implementation of the Competition Ordinance (Ordinance) in December this year.

With the theme "Compete with Integrity", the Exhibition will feature informative panels on the major elements of the Ordinance as well as the different types of anti-competitive conduct. A ten-part series of one minute educational programmes will also be shown at the Exhibition. In addition, there will be interactive electronic games, namely "What is the Competition Ordinance about?" and "Racing Competition", where members of the public get the chance to win souvenirs while learning about the basic concept of anti-competitive behaviours in a fun and innovative way. Easy-to-understand publications on the Ordinance will also be distributed at the Exhibition.

Below are the details of the Exhibition and members of the public are welcome to join.

Note to the Editor

The Commission is an independent statutory body established to enforce the Competition Ordinance (Cap. 619), which was enacted in June 2012. The objective of the Ordinance is to prohibit conduct that prevents, restricts or distorts competition and mergers that substantially lessen competition in Hong Kong. At the present time, the Merger Rule applies only to a merger involving an undertaking that directly or indirectly holds a carrier licence issued under the Telecommunications Ordinance (Cap. 106).
