Competition Commission to participate in SmartBiz Expo 2018

The Competition Commission (Commission) is participating in the SmartBiz Expo 2018 from 5 to 7 December as part of its ongoing advocacy to reach out to businesses, in particular small and medium enterprises (SMEs), in Hong Kong. Organised by the Hong Kong Trade Development Council, this SmartBiz Expo provides an excellent platform for the Commission to promote awareness and understanding of the Competition Ordinance (Ordinance).

The Commission's booth at the event will feature informative panels about the benefits and major elements of the Ordinance as well as practical information on how to identify cartel conduct with guidance on what to do should it be suspected. The Commission's debut micro movie, "A Conspiracy of Love", featuring actor Timothy Cheng Tse-sing and Celine Ma Tai-lo will be shown to enhance public awareness of market sharing and price fixing and the harm they inflict on consumers and the society. There will also be an interactive computer game to reinforce visitors' knowledge on the Ordinance. Brochures on different topics and a practical toolkit for SMEs will be distributed during the exhibition.

Businesses and members of the public are welcome to visit the Commission's booth.
