Competition Commission to participate in the HKTDC Entrepreneur Day 2018

The Competition Commission (Commission) is participating in the Entrepreneur Day organised by the Hong Kong Trade Development Council on 17 and 18 May as part of its ongoing advocacy efforts to reach out to businesses, in particular small and medium enterprises (SMEs) and new start-ups, in Hong Kong.

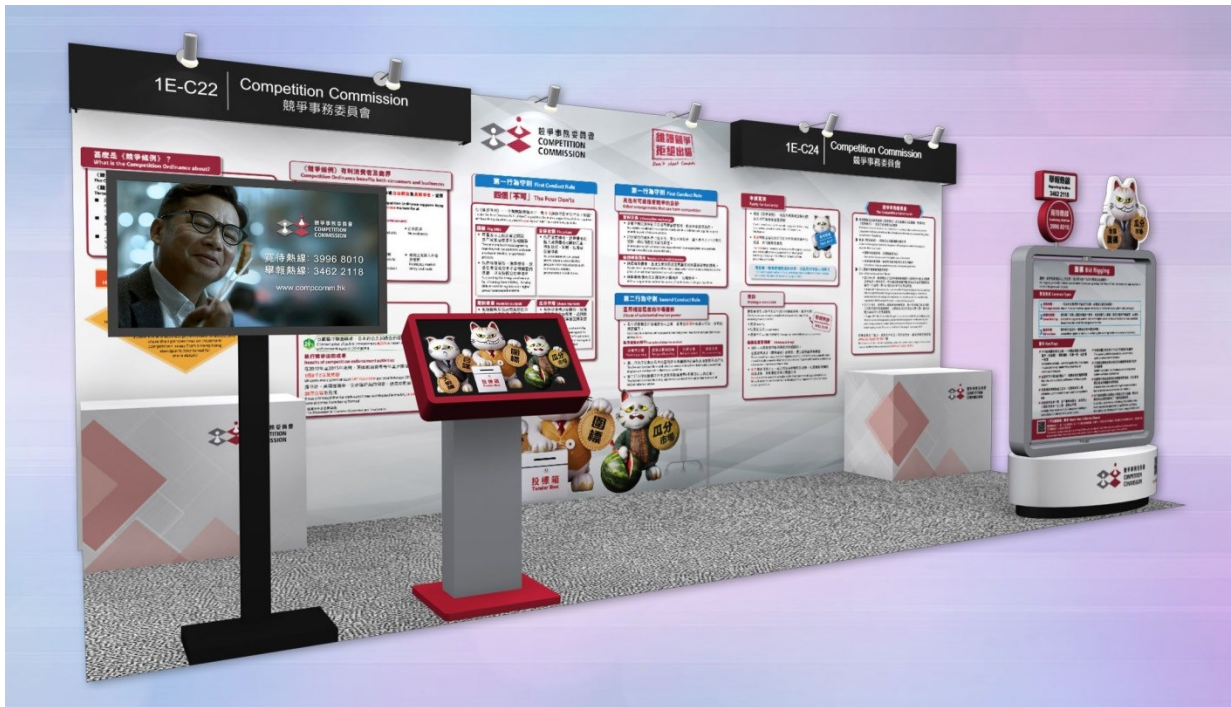

The Commission's booth at the event will feature informative panels about the benefits and major elements of the Competition Ordinance (Ordinance). There will also be practical information on how to identify bid-rigging and market sharing as well as guidance on what to do should anti-competitive conduct be suspected. Educational videos will be shown to facilitate easy understanding of the competition rules and there will also be an interactive computer game to reinforce visitors' knowledge of the Ordinance. Various educational materials including brochures on different topics and a practical toolkit for SMEs will be distributed during the exhibition.

Businesses and members of the public are welcome to visit the Commission's booth.
